

☒ eExam Question Bank

Coursecode:

Choose Coursecode

☐ Delete Selected Questions

☐ Assign Selected Questions to eExam

Show 150 entries

Search:

☐	Question Type	Question	A	B	C	D	Answer	Remark
☐	FBQ	Realists view power as a means for	state survival					☐ eExam
☐	FBQ	United Nations was formed after the end of	World War II					☐ eExam
☐	FBQ	Since the end of the Cold War, it is believed that the international system has moved toward a	Multipolar					☐ eExam
☐	FBQ	What became the contemporary international system evolved in	Europe					☐ eExam
☐	FBQ	The said leader of Europe before Westphalia was claimed to hold both political and powers	spiritual					☐ eExam
☐	FBQ	Before Westphalia, was the leader of Europe	Pope					☐ eExam
☐	FBQ	The Treaty of Westphalia was signed in	1648					☐ eExam
☐	FBQ	is not one of the characteristics of a state	race					☐ eExam
☐	FBQ	On major similarity between the international system and the biological system in the study of international relations is	interdependence					☐ eExam
☐	FBQ	Treaty of Westphalia brought to relevance the concept of in the study and practice of international relations	sovereignty					☐ eExam

☐
☐	FBQ	The connotations of balance of power is that there is no power in the international system	dominant	controlling				eExam
☐	FBQ	In the study of international relations, the term ACTOR refers to that plays role in international system	entity	individual				eExam
☐	FBQ	 theorists raised counter arguments on the realists these	Liberalist					eExam
☐	FBQ	The main actor in the study of international relations is 	State					eExam
☐	FBQ	Soviet Union was replaced by Russian federation in 1991, which marked the end of the 	Cold War					eExam
☐	FBQ	NATO is 	North Atlantic Treaty Organisation					eExam
☐	FBQ	The tree major aspects of globalization are Ppolitical, economic, cultural except 	war					eExam
☐	FBQ	The promoters of globalization hold the following views except 	structural inequality					eExam
☐	FBQ	The critics of globalization believe that globalization has transferred 	culture	technology				eExam
☐	FBQ	 has been used to refer to terrorist acts by governmental agents or forces.	State terrorism					eExam
☐	FBQ	WIFJAJC means 	World Islamic Front for Jihad Against Jews and Crusaders					eExam
☐	FBQ	The term polis refers to the 	Ancient political gathering					eExam

☐
☐	FBQ	 is the totality of relationships that exist between states and non-state actors in the international system	international relations					eExam
☐	FBQ	What are the alternative world models In the Continuation of the Contemporary Nation-State System 	regionalism and world government					eExam
☐	FBQ	In the Continuation of the Contemporary Nation-State System, another possible world order in the future that may take the form of regional units which will be an alternative to the nation-state system is called 	regionalism					eExam
☐	FBQ	Any motivation of which is typically rooted in faith-based tenets is called 	religious fanaticism					eExam
☐	FBQ	Deprivation of a population where there is dominance of a territory and its resources by a particular ethnic group create conditions for misdistribution. This can be why people or groups engage in terrorism.	economic motives					eExam
☐	FBQ	 is why people or groups engage in terrorism	political motives					eExam
☐	FBQ	The means of an influencing actor favouring strong nations and disfavours the weak in different situations is referred to as 	double standard					eExam
☐	FBQ	One of the major challenges of collective security system is the increasing tendency of to resort to unilateral actions	powerful states					eExam

☐
☐	FBQ	In the contemporary international system, the term "collective security" has also been cited as the guiding principle for the establishment 	United Nations					eExam
☐	FBQ	States form collective security through 	alliance					eExam
☐	FBQ	An example of a collective security frame work is 	NATO					eExam
☐	FBQ	 can be said to refer to the process of international integration arising from the interchange of world views, products, ideas, and other aspects of culture.	globalization					eExam
☐	FBQ	According to the _, the anarchy in the international system requires that states constantly ensure that they have sufficient strength to defend themselves and advance the material interest necessary for their survival.	realist school of thought					eExam
☐	FBQ	Hans Morgenthau asserts that is the ability to control the mind and actions of others.	power					eExam
☐	FBQ	 is made of goals and ambitions states seek to pursue, achieve and protect in the course of their interaction in the international system.	national interest					eExam
☐	FBQ	Anarchy in the international system is not the absence of peace in the system but the absence of a 	central authority					eExam
☐	FBQ	According to the traditional realist thinker, Hans Morgenthau, international politics is the struggle for 	power					eExam

noungeeks.com

☐
☐	FBQ	According to the classic realist thinker Niccolò Machiavelli, the desire for more power in the international system is rooted in the flawed high level of	interdependence					eExam
☐	FBQ	The basic motive of a state's behaviour in the international system is for its own	national interest					eExam
☐	FBQ	The notion of doctrine which presents states as entities that believe they can rely on no one else but themselves for security	self-help					eExam
☐	FBQ	The asserts that states are the main power players in international politics.	realist school of thought					eExam
☐	FBQ	According Bull, in the context of the international system implies there are no higher authorities, and because nation states are considered by many as the primary actors in international relations, an anarchical world would be one where there is no higher authority than that of the state.	Anarchy					eExam
☐	FBQ	 is referred to a legal-political entity	State					eExam
☐	FBQ	During the Cold war, the two power blocs formed two different alliances called NATO and	Warsaw Pact					eExam
☐	FBQ	The disintegration of the marked the end of the Cold war	Soviet Union					eExam

noungeeks.com

☐
☐	FBQ	During the Cold War, states in Africa, Asia and the Latin America become a force to be reckoned with the international system and decided to put an end to 	colonialism					eExam
☐	FBQ	During the Cold War, the states in Africa, Asia and Latin America were known as the 	non-aligned states					eExam
☐	FBQ	A state with dominant position in the international system and equally has the ability to influence events and its own interests and project power on a worldwide scale to protect those interests is referred to as 	superpower					eExam
☐	FBQ	Immediately after the end of the Second World War, the global system was called because the system centred on two superpowers	bipolar					eExam
☐	FBQ	The industrial revolution was essentially based in 	Europe					eExam
☐	FBQ	The concept of interdependence became popularized in the field of international relations through the work of 	Richard N. Cooper					eExam
☐	FBQ	 refers to the number of blocs of states that exert power in the international system.	Polarity					eExam
☐	FBQ	During the period of classical international system, international politics of that era was essentially 	European politics					eExam
☐	FBQ	Actors in the Transitional International System are state and 	non-state					eExam

noungeeks.com

☐
☐	FBQ	 are international and multinational organizations saddled with issues like economic exchange and the questions of war and peace.	Non-state actors					eExam
☐	FBQ	One of the characteristics of state actors in the transitional international system is 	sovereignty					eExam
☐	FBQ	One of the issues in the transitional international system was the within the system.	proliferation of states					eExam
☐	FBQ	The transitional international system also emerged as a period that would lay the foundations of much of what exists in the international system	contemporary					eExam
☐	MCQ	The emergence of the transitional international system can be linked to the events of the	Cold War	Napoleonic War	French revolution	Enlightenment	C	eExam
☐	MCQ	Word that describes a relationship in which each member of the relationship is mutually relying on the other is _____	relations	Interdependence	dependence	diplomacy	B	eExam
☐	MCQ	_____ also refers to the number of blocs of states that exert power in the international system.	Polarity	Cold War	equilibrium of interests	national interest	A	eExam
☐	MCQ	_____ refers to alignment with the source of danger.	Axis of evil	bandwagon of evil	evil axis	bandwagoning	D	eExam
☐	MCQ	_____ was the main instrument for stability in international system.	power	coercive power	balance of power	equilibrium	C	eExam
☐	MCQ	_____ Strategy is the idea that states' security is enhanced when military capabilities are distributed among states such that no one state is strong enough to dominate all others.	power	coercive power	balance of power	equilibrium	C	eExam
☐	MCQ	The peace treaty that ended the Thirty Years' War was a significant milestone in the emergence of the	World Wars	economic globalization	modern international system	realism	C	eExam

☐
☐	MCQ	Treaties resulting from the big diplomatic congress Thirty Years' War, ushered in a new system of political order in central Europe, later called	Westphalia sovereignty	Westphalia Nations-states	Westphalia national interest	Westphalia power	A	eExam
☐	MCQ	The treaty that was signed after the Thirty Years' War gave birth the idea of _____	war	nation-state	governance	democracy	B	eExam
☐	MCQ	The treaty that put an end to the Thirty Years' War is known as	Treaty of Westphalia	Treaty of Westphalia	Treaty of Westphalia	Treaty of Westphalia	D	eExam
☐	MCQ	Events of the Cold War seemed to have confirmed and validated many of the principles and predictions of the _____ theory	realist	liberal	Idealist	positivist	A	eExam
☐	MCQ	_____ and _____ are the two leading states championing the various campaign of the Cold War	China and the United States	Russia and Germany	China and Germany	Russia and the United States	D	eExam
☐	MCQ	The era of the Cold War had the world divided along two ideologies: namely	power and interests	human rights and justice	capitalism and communism	democracy and development	C	eExam
☐	MCQ	The _____ gave way for the rebirth of realism as a new paradigm	First World War	Second World War	Cold War	Peloponnesian War	B	eExam
☐	MCQ	The Idealist paradigm better explains one of the following event	First World War	Second World War	Cold War	Peloponnesian War	A	eExam
☐	MCQ	One major objective of the League of Nations was to	amass enough economic power to support poor states	prevent the occurrence of such war that preceded its establishment	to monitor guide states' foreign policy to align with its objectives	to blacklist corrupt states and prevent global terrorism	B	eExam
☐	MCQ	The Paris Peace Conference that ended the	First World War	Second World War	Cold War	Peloponnesian War	A	eExam
☐	MCQ	The "Fourth Great Debate" was a debate between	liberalism, realism and radical international relations theories	realists versus behaviourists	Neo-realist and Idealist	positivist theories and post-positivist theories of international relations	D	eExam
☐	MCQ	"Third Great Debate" has also been described as being between	liberalism, realism and radical international relations theories.	realists versus behaviourists	realism, institutionalism and structuralism	Neo-realist and Realist	C	eExam

☐
☐	MCQ	The "Third Great Debate" was a debate between	liberalism, realism and radical international relations theories	realists versus behaviourists	Neo-realist and Idealist	Neo-realist and Realist	A	eExam
☐	MCQ	"Third Great Debate" is also known as	dependent debate	utopian debate	externalization of argument	the inter-paradigm debate	D	eExam
☐	MCQ	The "Second Great Debate" is termed	Liberalism and realism	realists versus behaviourists	Neo-realist and Idealist	Neo-realist and Realist	B	eExam
☐	MCQ	The "Second Great Debate" sought to	define and interpret scientific approach to the study of international relations	analyze the various concept of international relations in order to develop a suitable argument	refine scientific methods of inquiry and historicist/interpretative approach to international relations theory	identify the divergent and the convergent points of ideas that lead to theories	C	eExam
☐	MCQ	The first "Great Debate" is also known as the	Realist-Idealist Great Debate	the liberal-idealist Great Debate	the Neo-conservatism-Realism Great Debate	Neo-liberalist-Realist Great Debate	A	eExam
☐	MCQ	In international relations, the "Great Debates" refer to	a series of conservative analysis about anarchy in the international system	a series of agreement between all the theories in international relations	a series of converging ideas that bother on peace, conflict, system, power and economy and how state blend with them	a series of disagreements between international relations scholars	D	eExam
☐	MCQ	The major doctrinal position of neoconservatives is that they see or depict the world of international politics as a	struggle for wealth and peace	struggle between good and evil	struggle for power and wealth	struggle for dominance	B	eExam
☐	MCQ	Neo-conservatism drew from liberalism and its intense focus is on the promotion of "universal values" such as	peace, justice, democracy and Gay rights	Justice, women and children, Democracy	democracy, human rights, free trade, women's rights and minority protections	all of the above	C	eExam
☐	MCQ	Neoliberalism is considered as a comprehensive challenge to the theories of _____ and _____	realism and neoliberalism	realism and neorealism	realism and neo-idealism	realism and functional realism	A	eExam
☐	MCQ	Another name for neoliberal idealism is	peace	cooperation	realist institutionalism	complex integration	D	eExam
☐	MCQ	The major dividing line between the realists and the liberal idealists is that	While the former see power and conflict as problems for states the latter see power as politics, peace and interdependent.	while the former see conflict as the norm in international affairs, the latter are more hopeful about the prospects for peace and international cooperation	while the former see anarchy as a major problem in the international system, the latter see anarchy as a form of peace and international cooperation	while the former question anarchy and power as a form of state relations, the later adopt it as a form of peace engagement and cooperation amongst state	B	eExam

☐
☐	MCQ	The central issues that liberal idealism seeks to address are the problems of	non-proliferation of nuclear weapon	constituting a peacekeeping force under the United Nations and prevent war	achieving lasting peace and cooperation in international relations	targeting enemies of peace through the deployment of market forces	C	eExam
☐	MCQ	Liberal idealism roots lie in the broader liberal thought originating during the era of	the Cold War	Napoleonic War	Westphalia war	the Enlightenment	D	eExam
☐	MCQ	Critics of idealism hold the view that the proposition of the idealists is _____	vibrant	fundamental	critical	utopian	D	eExam
☐	MCQ	According to the idealist, the first step to solve global problem is to encourage the growth of _____	democracy	power politics	economic relations	diplomatic friendliness	A	eExam
☐	MCQ	The major assumption of the idealists is that	the international system is characterized by anarchy and to tackle such anarchy, a powerful state must rise up to the challenge to save other states	there is a natural harmony of interests among nation-states, based on the inherent desire of most people to live in peace with one another	to achieve global peace, all states under an international organizations must harmonize their various goals in order to have collective ideology	States has the freedom to practice their own ideology guided by their national interest through the use of diplomacy and foreign policy	B	eExam
☐	MCQ	The major proponent of idealism as a school of thought is _____	Hans Morgenthau	Kenneth Waltz	Woodrow Wilson	E. H. Carr	C	eExam
☐	MCQ	Idealism was a relatively short-lived school of thought, and suffered a crisis of confidence as a result of these events.	the establishment of the League of Nations and the end of the World War I	the collapse of the Berlin Wall and the outbreak of the Cold War	the establishment of the United Nations and the end of the World War II	failure of the League of Nations and the outbreak of World War II	D	eExam
☐	MCQ	Realism underwent refinement by scholars and this resulted to various novel paradigms such as	Liberalism, realist realism, fundamental classical	liberal realism, classical realism, realist and the French school	classical realism, liberal realism, neorealism and neoclassical realism	structural realism, national realism, power politics, functional realism and power realism	C	eExam
☐	MCQ	The world view of the Realists rest on the assumption that	state should go to war and expand	survival is the principal goal of every state actor	state foreign policy and national interest should be clear	state should be a member of international organization and must influence decision to achieve its goals	B	eExam
☐	MCQ	Realism believes power can be in variety of ways, they are:	militarily, economically and diplomatically	weapons, politics and economy	militarily, culturally and educationally	militarily, national interests and diplomatically	A	eExam

☐
☐	MCQ	In the realist thinking, there is no _____ to settle disputes among contending actors as it is in domestic political systems	power play	peace keeping	central authority	bipolar power	C	eExam
☐	MCQ	In the thinking of the realists the international system is defined by	power politics	sovereignty	interests	anarchy	D	eExam
☐	MCQ	Realism is identified with scholars such as	Spiro, Stanley Hoffman and Hans Morgenthau	Hans Morgenthau, Henry Kissinger and Kenneth Waltz	Stanley Hoffman, Henry Kissinger and Kenneth Waltz	Hans Morgenthau, Henry Kissinger and Spiro	B	eExam
☐	MCQ	Realism is frequently referred to as the _____	power theory	politics theory	international power politics theory	international political economy theory	A	eExam
☐	MCQ	Thucydides, an ancient Greek historian in his work titled _____ espoused the views that have been the basis of Realists' assumptions	War of the worlds	Thirty Years' War	History of the Peloponnesian War	Second World War and its Ingenuity	C	eExam
☐	MCQ	The philosophers that gave the template for the realist assumptions are	Thomas Hobbs, Charles Darwin and Thucydides	Thomas Hobbs Niccolò Machiavelli and Cardinal Richelieu	Thucydides, Niccolò Machiavelli and Cardinal Richelieu	Thomas Hobbs Niccolò Machiavelli and Charles Darwin	C	eExam
☐	MCQ	Realism as a formal discipline in international relations did not arrive until	World War I	World War II	the Thirty Years' War	Cold War	B	eExam
☐	MCQ	_____ replaced the concept of international system	international society	International political economy	international arena	globalization	A	eExam
☐	MCQ	The concept of international system became prominent during the	World War I	World War II	the Thirty Years' War	Cold War	D	eExam
☐	MCQ	The two categories of international actors are _____ and _____	State and non-state actors	Multinational corporations and non-state actors	state actors and multinational corporation	national actors and supranational actors	D	eExam

☐
☐	MCQ	Stanley Hoffman defines international system as _____	a pattern of relations among the basic units of world politics, characterised by the scope of the objectives pursued by those units and of the task performed among them as well as by the means used to achieve those goals and perform these tasks	a style of relations between state and non-state actors, through the recognition of the whole as important and influential to determine the direction of world politics	the convergent and divergent of actors direction on issues that interrelate and collectively affect the relations between states in the international system	the means where there are some entities which are considered to be inside the system, while others are outside	A	eExam
☐	MCQ	While David Easton and Gabriel Almond have used the system approach for the study of political system, Kenneth Waltz and Morton Kaplan have used it for the study of _____	economic system	political system	interrelated system	international system	C	eExam
☐	MCQ	According to Spiro, the international system is _____	a whole in itself	an abstract, descriptive and theoretical	a whole and an abstract	a theoretical and a technical whole in itself	B	eExam
☐	MCQ	In the framework of the international system _____	states carries the burden of the whole as its constituent parts	nation-states as actors, always standing in interaction with each other making the whole world as an organized complexity	states takes the accolade of being an influential whole and at the same time a part	state and non-state actors share and struggle for power within the whole	B	eExam
☐	MCQ	The general concept of international system has its foundation in the works of _____	Idealist theorists	realist theorists	systemic theorists	liberal theorist	C	eExam
☐	MCQ	One major controversy that has trailed the understanding of the concept of international system bothered on _____	the inadequacy of assigning the term "system" to the act of intermingling of states and non-state actors in the international arena	the difficulties in locating the realist and liberalist assumption within its confines	it operational use to define day-to-day analysis on international system	the convergence of its components to properly mingle with the whole within and without to explain global phenomenon	A	eExam
☐	MCQ	Systems are classified into two different ways. They are _____ and _____	international system and biological system	economic system and political system	spiritual system and physical system	natural system and human made system	D	eExam

☐
☐	MCQ	The high level of interaction in a system indicates that	all other components outside of it has a relationship with what is within	when the properties of a component in a system change, all other components and the system as a whole would be affected	all other components inside of it relate on a minimal level by forming another whole	the components, the whole and the outer parts conjoin to form other various whole for the purpose of expanding the major whole	B	eExam
☐	MCQ	One of the distinct characteristics of the concept of system is that _____	it is scientific in nature	it is just for the basic of explanation	it properly explains the interaction between an entity and its constituent parts	it is a whole in itself and a means to an end	C	eExam
☐	MCQ	The term system is used to described international phenomenon because	of the high level of interdependence between states	because it is mechanical in nature	the biological side of it makes it suitable for state analysis	(d) because it was argued for at the United Nations conference	A	eExam

Showing 1 to 120 of 120 entries

Previous
1
Next

noungeeks.com